

PERMISSION TO SHOW PICTURES/VIDEO FOR TEACHING PURPOSES

(COMPLETELY OPTIONAL)

From time to time people receiving services from The Community Circles have generously allowed their pictures and some or all of their stories to be shared with others for teaching purposes. This is one of the most effective ways to teach others, and is the best rated part of any presentation.

When the stories are told the person's full name is never used (unless requested to be used by the person) and certain identifying details are changed to preserve privacy. The stories are, of course, reported in positive and respectful terms.

Some people volunteer to share their story, but prefer certain elements be omitted. Obviously all instructions of this type are fully respected and followed.

If you are willing to share your story in this way, for the purpose of teaching others, it would be an honor to have your permission and photograph and/or video to do so.

Permission given to show photograph and/or video by clinicians of The Community Circle for teaching purposes: I understand permission can be withdrawn at any time.
